Crossing Technology: Christians, Self-control, and Our Use of Tech

In a world where screens constantly call for our attention, it is easy to lose sight of how we spend the time God has given us. Technology itself is not the enemy—it can be useful and even encouraging—but without care, it can quietly consume hours meant for greater purposes.

Scripture reminds us to “make the best use of the time” we have been given. Each moment is an opportunity to serve, to love, to grow, and to reflect Christ in our homes and communities.

When technology begins to replace these opportunities, it is worth asking what might need to change.

Imagine what could happen if even a portion of our screen time was redirected to prayer, meaningful conversation, service, or rest. Families could grow closer. Faith could deepen. Lives could be impacted for eternity.

Let us be people who use technology wisely—not as masters of our time, but as tools. May we encourage one another to redeem our time for the good works we were created to do, bringing glory to God in all we choose.
